John Stuart Mill

WORD FROM THE DEAN

I start writing this introduction of the PPE Yearbook with a profound sense of melancholy. The Yearbook offers us the faces and aspirations of this year's students, while these faces have vanished from our JS Mill College on the Fourth Floor for several weeks now. On a recent visit to the Fourth Floor, the place looked like a ghost palace, with Brian as its sole occupant working in complete isolation. Only the KallioPPE announcements, whose dates stop brusquely in March, are visible remnants of what once was a vibrant student community.

This

academic year has been a very remarkable year. I started my first opening speech in September, as new dean of the College, with the wish "May you live in interesting times." We witnessed interesting times indeed, which were the best of times and the worst of times. From a PPE perspective, the corona-crisis is mighty interesting. We are faced with a breakdown of the economic system, a closing of borders, a temporary suspension of basic civil liberties, and the price of a human life is being measured. Better decisions for a better world is what we need now. On the other hand, the year has been very hard for PPE students. The student community was scattered, lecturers had to improvise with online lectures, exams were rescheduled unpredictably, and second year students were in immense uncertainty about their foreign exchanges. Due to the lockdown students were confined in their rooms with a limited off-line social life, a situation that soon became horrendously boring.

This

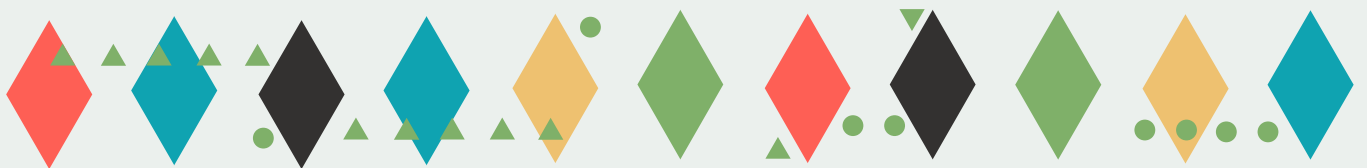

makes this year's Yearbook very special. It connects again all the students who studied at the College and had only online contact in little clusters recently. And when you open this Yearbook again in future years, it will undoubtedly be a strange reminder of weird times and of the fellow students with whom you gone through them.

Prof. dr. Lieven Decock
Dean of the JS Mill College

First year: class of 2022

“A good head and good heart are always a formidable combination. But when you add to that a literate tongue or pen, then you have something very special.”

The Tutors

BRIAN COLGAN
INEQUALITY AND MOBILITY

What do you want to give us on our way: Everything seems tough until you break it down into steps

What do you like about PPE? The students and how they are always organizing something interesting Perks of being a tutor? The coffee!

AKSHATH JITENDRANATH
PHILOSOPHY AND ECONOMICS

What was your most memorable experience this year? As always, the new cohort of students that come in at the start of the year, and meeting them -- straight off the bat -- in the Ethics course.

Perks of being a tutor? You get to do what Socrates was accused of, corrupt the youth!.

STEFANO MERLO
POLITICAL THEORY,
MACROECONOMICS

What was your most memorable experience this year? I came to class once and all my markers were working

What do you like about PPE? You can jump from one discipline to the next and students are fine with that

Perks of being a tutor? You get coffee for free from Brian every morning

DIEDERIK STADIG
POLITICAL ECONOMY

Describe yourself in 3 words: Lazy

What was your most memorable experience this year? Attending the Democratic primary in New Hampshire

What do you want to give us on our way: If you love something, set it free. Unless it's a tiger.

MARINA UZUNOVA
ECONOMICS AND PHILOSOPHY

What was your most memorable experience this year? In the classroom? It's a continued experience actually: the sea of faces staring at you, challenging you to read them; while stubbornly refusing to help you along.

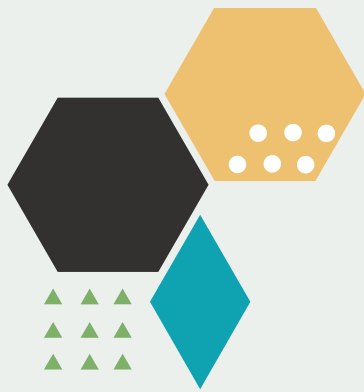

What do you want to give us on our way: Savour the relationships you've formed.

SANNE GROOTHUIS
POLITICAL SCIENCE AND PHILOSOPHY

What was your most memorable experience this year? Experiencing how open and reflective you all were when discussing contemporary counter-terrorism efforts during a political science seminar - great to have shared that with you!

What do you like about PPE? The variety of personalities

KallioPPE

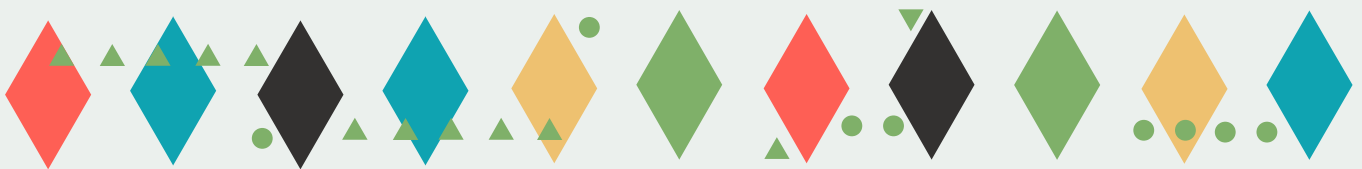

The board

From left to right, Kasper Berthelsen, Lieve Brogtrop, Nick van Staalduinen, Ethan Auer, Luc Groenendijk

" This year has been great and challenging, specially due to Covid-19. Regardless we are very happy with our output as a board as well as our committees. Many of you have put a lot of hard work and effort into this organization in the past year and we are very proud of and thankful for everything this community has managed to achieve. It was a pleasure to work with so many ambitious and motivated people and we absolutely cannot wait to see how what we have helped build will blossom in the coming years. Now it is time for new, fresh minds to take over and put their stamp on the ever-evolving project that is KallioPPE.

Yours truly,
KallioPPE Board III (2019-2020)"
